

Tech Support

☒ As many of you know I make my living as a technical support specialist. I didn't set out in life to have a career in IT. It's just something that along the way I developed an aptitude for and things just kind of fell in to place when they needed to and landed me here.